

Mayor Swinburne and a portion of the Commissioners of the Asylum came to collision on Wednesday last. Complaints were made to the Mayor that a woman was keeping a disreputable house in the north east part of the city; he gave her notice to do, but failed to keep her pledge good. Further complaints were made, and the Mayor ordered the Overseer of the Poor to commit her to the Asylum, not as a pauper, but for the offence above named; he intended to keep her there only for a few days, or until she would promise to give up the house, or leave the city. Here the Mayor made a mistake; he should have committed her to Jail, and not to the Asylum, because the last named Institution is designed to be a home and respectable refuge for the poor and unfortunate, and not a receptacle for the guilty and profligate, who deserve incarceration in a House of Correction.

The woman promised to comply with the Mayor's terms, and he accordingly sent an order by the Overseer of the Poor to the keeper of the Asylum for the discharge of the woman; the keeper refused to discharge her upon this order, saying that his instructions from the Commissioners were not to discharge any person except by an order from their Board. The Mayor then sent another order, which came into the hands of the Commissioners, and they offered to endorse it, but the Mayor would not consent to this, contending that he had a right to discharge any person that he had committed. The keeper of the Asylum refused to comply with this order; the Mayor then obtained a warrant for the woman, and went to the Asylum with the Sheriff, his Deputy and the Overseer of the Poor, and, breaking open the door, brought the woman to the city. Thus the matter stands. The Mayor contends that the city authorities have a control over the Asylum, and that the Commissioners should be responsible to the Council for their acts, expenditures, &c., the same as any other Committee. On the other hand, the Commissioners contend that they have exclusive control over the Asylum, the expenditure of funds, the discharge of persons committed there, &c., and that the city authorities have no right to interfere with them. These we understand to be the facts in the case.

We think the Mayor is right in claiming to discharge a person committed there by his order, because it is natural to presume that, knowing all the facts of the case, he is the best judge as to what should be done. In regard to the financial affairs of the Institution, we were long ago convinced that there was monkey in the management. We do not speak of any particular year but we mean for years past, in all the different Boards; and it is quite time that there was a thorough renovation of the system of managing this most benevolent and excellent Institution, as far as its financial affairs are concerned.

COUNCIL CHAMBER,
Thursday evening.

BROTHER CHANSTON.

We held our first grand meeting this evening. Brother James W. Curtis presided. This was the first effort to galvanize the order into being again, but like all galvanizing processes, it proved utterly abortive. We had only eleven brothers present; the fact is, the Order is as defunct as a dead jackass, and it is entirely useless to hope for resurrection. It grew rapidly for a while, and through it a few obscure men were brought forward, and placed in public positions where they have only made themselves ridiculous, and consequently have become the laughing stock of all sensible men.

No business was transacted this evening. Brother Curtis, brother of the Aldermen, said that it was rather a slim look, he moved to adjourn to next Tuesday evening, so we adjourned accordingly.

Yours fraternally,
SAM.

The famous tin Kettle of Custom House memory, has been found behind the chimney in the office of the Naval Officer. It was stuffed full of manuscript speeches of his, on the loggery and constitutionality of the Nebraska and Kansas Bill.

THANKSGIVING.—Governor Gardner has appointed Thursday, the twenty-ninth day of November next as a day of public thanksgiving, prayer, and praise in the commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The cholera has been raging with fearful violence at Para. About 8,000 have died in the province, including the President and many other distinguished citizens. The disease has nearly left Para, but has reached the cities of Bahia and Rio de Janeiro.

A WARNING TO YOUNG WIVES.—A case of love, jealousy and suicide, has recently occurred at New Orleans, which has fed the somewhat jaded appetites of excitement mongers. The victim is a young Irishman, named Moe, who has acted for some months past as steward of the steamship Orizaba. About six months ago he married a young and beautiful woman, whom he loved to distraction, and who he believed loved him in return with equal ardor—so indeed it is supposed she did. There was nothing to show that it was otherwise; but young Moe was fond of society, and among his companions was one who, like himself, possessed a young and handsome wife; and this young lady Mrs. Moe thought of fancied paid too much attention to her husband; still there is nothing to show that Moe entertained for her any other feeling than that of friendship and admiration.

On Sunday evening last, however, he returned home to his residence in Camp street, and soon perceived from the lowering countenance of his young wife, and other symptoms, that a domestic tempest was brewing. Whether he had or had not been guilty of too ardent admiration of his friend's wife, he could not endure the suspicions of his wife. Fearful the gathering storm would burst, and believing that the demon of jealousy once aroused, his future peace of mind was shipwrecked, he left the house, without saying a word to his jealous wife, and straightway walked to a drug store in Chartres street, where he had been in the habit of buying drugs for the use of the steamer. Here he bought a pint of laudanum, and immediately on receiving it, snatched a tumbler from the stand, emptied the laudanum therein, and drank every drop. The druggist saw him in the act, and reaching forward exclaimed,

"You have swallowed that laudanum?"

"What if I have?" exclaimed the desperate man; "it's my own business."

He then hastened to a coffee-house near by and swallowed a tumbler full of brandy, and of course soon became insensible. The druggist had followed him, and he was taken back to the store, and powerful antidotes administered; but the dose of poison had been too powerful, no result ensued, and he died soon after. He was taken home, and the scene that ensued when his wife heard the fearful tidings, baffles description. She frantically kissed her dead husband's lips and accused herself as his murderer, and for some time fears were entertained for her sanity. A coroner's jury was called, an investigation took place, a suitable verdict rendered, and the body of the suicide was consigned to earth, and thus ended one of the most tragic dramas of real life ever known or heard of.

AN "ALBINO" INDIAN.—A correspondent of the Placerville American, says he has discovered a digger Indian woman near the bank of the Sierra Nevada who is perfectly white. He remarks: "We had gone at least eight miles, when on turning a short spur of a mountain, we came suddenly in view of one of those small, elevated, though green and beautiful mountain valleys, entirely hid from previous view by surrounding mountains; towards the farther end of the valley, less than a mile distant, was a small, rancheria of diggers. All the men, save two or three very old ones, and one, totally blind, were away, leaving their women at their allotted tasks or doing nothing. On our near approach we were surprised to find among them a perfectly white woman—but who, on closer inspection, proved to be a perfectly formed and featured digger woman. Her parents are both diggers, and the mother, for we saw her, even darker than the average, and yet their offspring presented the strange anomaly of a perfectly white woman, apparently not more than twenty years of age, large and robust. Her skin, for not one of them all was clad in enough of covering to be an apology, was as white as their filthy mode of living would admit of, while her hair straight and coarse as the veriest digger was also purely white. In addition to this the entire iris of both her eyes, was a scarlet, or bright red color. In truth, she was just what a phrenologist would call an albino. The production of one of nature's strongest freaks. This same woman has twice visited Ragtown upon the Carson River, being always described as the white digger with the red eyes."

RACHEL.—This amount realized by the French company, of which Mademoiselle Rachel is the chief, since their arrival in New York, amounts to $86,564. Of this amount, thirteen performances in September realized $42,564, and those in October, up to the time of leaving on Saturday last, $44,000. Mr. Felix, brother of Rachel and manager of the company, has published a card, thanking the public for their favorable reception and the continued patronage given to them.

THE COAL TRADE.—As low as anthracite coal now is, compared with last year's prices, there is every prospect that it will be lower next year. New mines are opening, and the facilities for bringing the produce to market are daily increasing. Among the many recent developments, we hear most flattering accounts of those of the Mahanoy region. The supply of coal is large, and the quality said to be at least equal to the best coming to this market.—Phila. Ledger.

PAPERS AND BOOKS.—W. C. Bryant, the American poet, speaking of newspapers, said: "Books are the precious metals in masses—newspapers coin them for general use, put them into the most convenient forms, and pass them from hand to hand." "Newspapers," he said, are the ushers of books. Who would know when a book is published but for the friendly information of the newspaper? He added that he had been sometimes tempted to regret that the wise, witty, or eloquent things which appeared in these folios of four pages, as they were called by Cowper, should not be inscribed on more durable tablets, instead of going the next morning to wrap parcels or light kitchen fires; but he was fully satisfied with their fate, when he reflected that they had first been read by thousands, and whatever was good in them had passed into the general mind."

A RARE CHANCE!—Messrs. Livingston & Batherheld, the express men who undertook to bring to New York, the gold from Dubuque, Iowa, belonging to the government, and for which lead was substituted, offer $15,000 reward for the jobber and the funds. The New York Times very properly calls upon the spirit rappers, clairvoyants, &c., to set their wits to work, and rap out the mystery. If they can tell what is transpiring in another world, they ought certainly to be able to tell what is going on in this! If some of the medical mediums can tell the complaint of a person 1000 miles off, they are able to throw some light on this robbery; and if any of them are in want of $15,000, now is the time to confound unbelievers, and secure a substantial reward.—[N. H. Register.]

A BEAUTIFUL SELL.—A person calling himself James Walton, professing to be a representative of a fire company in New York, took lodgings at the Franklin House during the past week, and gave out that the object of his visit was to make arrangements for the redemption of the New York fire company. A Philadelphia company took the affair in hand, and engaged a band of music besides ordering a supper for the expected guests. A late hour on Friday night when the edibles in profusion were on the board, and the strangers anxiously waited for it, was discovered that it was a "sell." Mr. Walton had decamped during the day, leaving his bill unpaid. The company would have been in a bad humor, if the good things had not been before them, which they set about to demolish with great gusto.—Philadelphia Times.

FREE LOVE.—Gas-Light Foster writes to the New York Tribune that he never married the lady who goes by the name of Mrs. Foster, with whom he lived several years, calling her his wife, and by whom he had two daughters. If true, this is a degree of "free love" that practices in Gotham bear no comparison with. Foster's assertions, however, are not to be relied upon on all occasions.

A POOR BOY NOW GOVERNOR.—The new Governor of California, J. Neely Johnson, was born in a squatter's cabin in Indiana. In 1849 he went to California, where his first occupation was driving a mule team to the mines. He next took to the practice of law, and has since then been a rising man. At the age of thirty years and one month, he is Governor of a large and thriving State.

A TEMPERANCE LECTURER, descending on the essential and purifying qualities of cold water, remarked as a knock down argument, "that when the world became so corrupt that the Lord could do nothing else with it, he was obliged to give it a thorough soaking in cold water." "Yes," replied a wag, "but it killed every durned critter on the face of the earth!"

A REMARKABLE CASE.—The Auburn (N. Y.) American states that Joel Shonover, a man ninety eight years of age, was sentenced in that city recently to two years of imprisonment in the State Prison, for the crime of arson, he having been convicted of burning no less than three barns belonging to his relatives—children, it is said. He exalts in the commission of the deed, which consigns him to the convict's cell.

AN HONEST FARMER having a number of men hoeing in his field, went to see how his work went on. Finding one of them sitting still, he inquired the cause.—The man answered, "I thirst for the spirit." "Grog, you mean, I suppose," said the farmer; but if the Bible teaches you to thirst after the spirit, it says also, "Hoe! every one that thirsteth."

GRAFTING.—An interesting discovery is stated to have been made in France, in the grafting of fruit trees. Instead of making use of a graft, a slip is taken from an apple tree, for example, and planted in a potato, so that a couple of inches of the slip remain visible. It soon takes root, develops itself, and finally becomes a handsome tree bearing fine fruit. This method is due to a Bohemian gardener.

CALIFORNIA FRUIT.—The climate of southern California is said to be the best in the world for fruit. Los Angeles is destined, it is said, to become the future garden of Eden, and that every fruit that adorns Paradise—except that of the fatal tree—will unquestionably flourish there. The orange, the lemon and the pomegranate, the peach, the apple, and the pear, grow side by side in wonderful emulation, each striving to outdo the other in size, beauty and lucidness. The grape vineyards exceed those of Burgundy or Barba, and are destined to carry off the palm from old Champagne. No fruit has yet been planted which has not arisen from the ground, at most as if by magic, and seeming for the first time to have found a natal soil. The English walnut grows from the seed, from eleven to fifteen feet the first year; the peach flourishes quite as well, while all the berry tribe yield such marvellous returns that faith itself is staggered with the result. The pear attains the size of the common nutmeg melon, and the old muskmelon rivals the pumpkin in monstrousness. As an inducement to embark in fruit raising, one of the papers says a gentleman of Los Angeles planted one quart of orange seed on a small patch of ground near that town, and sold the plants when one year old for four thousand dollars in cash, and this sale was effected this year!

The editor of the Sacramento Tribune has received a bunch of grapes, weighing seven pounds, from a friend, and the editor of the San Francisco News tells us of a branch of a peach tree which he has seen, only about twelve inches in length, around which were clustered sixteen large luscious peaches, the largest of which measured nine inches in circumference, and the smallest seven inches, and averaged in weight five ounces each. This branch was taken from a tree which was but two years old last spring. Another tree, growing in the same garden, it is estimated, has produced this season no less than 4000 peaches.

To horse owners, stable keepers and others—Dyers' Healing Embrocation has proved to be one of the best remedies for lameness, caused by strains, bruises, sprain or other accidental causes as well as for wounds, galls or other injuries that are frequently occurring to horses and other animals. It is also the cheapest preparation that can be used. A stable keeper in Providence says—

"I have frequently used it with the most decided marked results upon my horses. I use it in all cases of cuts, wounds and bruises, and in internal pains and distress, and it never fails to give immediate relief, or to effect a cure. It will heal wounds, cuts or sores, upon man or animals, sooner than any other preparation I have ever used."

"No article ever acquired so rapid celebrity and universal popularity as Lyman's Katharine. To those who have used it, and who have not?"

"The reason is obvious, as it not only beautifies the Hair, but preserves and restores it at an advanced age of life. Its perfume and agreeable enervating effects should stamp it an indispensable article of the toilet." The above is but one of thousands of similar commendations—It stands unrivalled as its unparalleled popularity has caused several unprincipled persons to put up valueless imitations, which they call by somewhat similar names. Sold everywhere, in large bottles, for only 25 cents.

PROFESSOR WOOD'S
HAIR RESTORATIVE
It is no doubt, the most wonderful discovery of this age of progress. The following is from a distinguished member of the medical profession:

St. Paul, January 1, 1855.
Prof. O. J. Wood, Dear Sir—Unaltered,
I send you this certificate. After being nearly blind for a long time, and having tried all the hair restoratives extant, and having no faith in any,
I was induced on hearing of yours, to give it a trial. I placed myself in the hands of a barber, and had my head well rubbed with a good stiff brush, and the Restorative then applied and well rubbed in, till the scalp was all a glow. This I repeated every morning, and in three weeks the young hair appeared, and grew rapidly from August last up to the present time, and is now thick, black, and strong—soft and pleasant to the touch, whereas before it was harsh and wiry, what little there was of it that little was disappearing rapidly. I still use your Restorative about twice a week, and shall soon have a good and perfect crop of hair. Now I have read of these things—and who has not?
I have never seen hitherto, any case in which any person's hair was really benefited by the hair restorative. One of the day, and it really gives me pleasure to record the result of my experience. I have recommended your preparation to others, and it already has a large and general sale throughout the Territory. The people here saw its effects, and have confidence in it. All who have used it, will coincide with me in what I have written. The supply you sent us, as the wholesale agents for this Territory, is already exhausted, and daily inquiries are made for it. You deserve credit for your discovery. For one return you think for the benefit it has done me, for a number had disappeared long ago, and reflecting such kind congratulations you that your fortune
(and a large one) is already made.
Yours, faithfully,
J. W. BOND,

M. T.
Brookfield, Mass., Jan'y 12th, 1855.
Prof. Wood—Dear Sir—Having made a trial of your Hair Restorative, it gives me pleasure to say that its effect has been excellent in removing inflammation, dandruff, and a constant itching which I have been troubled with from childhood, and has also restored hair
which was long since lost to its original color.
I have used no other article with anything like
the pleasure and profit.

THE Burglar's Alarm and Physician's Night
Bell and Lamp!—This instrument, patented August 21, 1855, is simple and certain in its operation, and gives security against the depredations of burglars. An attempt to open any door or window connected with this apparatus,
will cause an alarm bell to ring, light a red lamp, and a company hand lamp to be lighted at the same instant. The burglar, frightened at the alarm he has raised, will hastily descend, even before actual entrance is made.
Physicians and Apothecaries will also find the article of great utility. For such purposes, it is operated by a bell-pull at the street door, and will save the expense and inconvenience of a constantly burning light.
When compared with other instruments invented for the same purpose, this alarm is ad-

fect of the alarm, and the certainty of ignition.
